

IEC Associate Information

Anne Kresta

Parent and Inclusion Advocate
Winnipeg, Manitoba

Bio:

Anne has worked extensively in the area of 'inclusion' and social justice, beginning when she was growing up with an older sister who has an intellectual disability. She is also the parent of two sons living with autism spectrum disorder. Her advocacy work has led to the development of expertise in inclusive school cultures, individual educational planning, transition planning and working with parents to develop effective advocacy and collaborative planning skills with the education system.

Interests:

Planning inclusive school cultures; transition to adulthood; collaborative problem solving

Publications:

Planning Inclusive Culture in Schools, featuring the process and tools available to school communities to explore this concept.

Link: www.pics-clm.ca

A Personal Guide to the Vulnerable Persons Act

Link: www.aclmb.ca

The Parents Guide to Inclusive Education

Link: www.aclmb.ca

Exploring Inclusive Educational Practices Through Professional Inquiry: Gordon L. Porter, Deirdre Smith, Sense Publishers, 2011 (contributor)

Transitioning to Adulthood: Parents report on how the process is working for their sons and daughters with disabilities, ACLMB, 2010.

Mothers of young children with disabilities and Manitoba's early learning and child care services: Enhancing Women's Economic Security and Reducing Work-Family Conflict for Rural and Northern Manitoba Women; Submitted to The Child Care Coalition of Manitoba 2009.
A Window into the Accessibility of Manitoba's Education Systems: From Early Learning and Childcare, through Nursery/Kindergarten to Grade 12 and into Post-Secondary, February 2018,
Published by Education Solutions Manitoba with support from Barrier-Free Manitoba

Consultation: Inclusive Culture; Transition to Adulthood; Parent Perspectives

Contact: akresta@mymts.net